STAKEHOLDERS DIRECTORY 2014

Foreword Message

It gives me immense pleasure to present the first edition of Medicinal and Aromatic Plants (MAPs) Stakeholder Directory published by Jadibuti Association of Nepal (JABAN). We have tried to develop this directory as a complete comprehensive guidebook for the readers. In this edition, JABAN has tried to compile MAPs stakeholder's data from all over Nepal.

Nepal irrespective of its topography is a significant contributor in MAPs trade worldwide. In this edition, we have fragmented data of MAPs trade from Nepalgunj as per the records of JABAN. We have included species traded from Nepalgunj with information on Government of Nepal's (GoN) regulations for the sector, cites list and GoN royalty.

It was really hard to collect authentic data from remote areas of Nepal. Also, this directory was not possible without support of different stakeholders like various International Non-government Organizations (INGO), Government institution etc. I am really grateful to Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) GmbH on behalf of the German Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ) for guiding and supporting us throughout the development of this directory. I want to thank Ms. Aruna Shukla for putting all her efforts to develop it. I also want to pay my gratitude to Mr. Rabindra Nath Shukla for introducing this concept of developing a Directory and our Executive Committee members to make it possible. I especially want to thank Mr. Prakash Katwal (ANSAB), Mr. Navraj Dahal (SAWTEE), NEHHPA, HEAN, Nepal Ayurvedic Medicine Producers Association and every one who has contributed in the development of this directory.

On behalf of the JABAN family, I sincerely want to thank all the supporters of our directory and look forward to receive your guidance and support.

Many Thanks & Regards

Shri. Md. Yakub Ansari

From the desk of President

Foreword

The Nepal Trade Integration Strategy has identified Medicinal and Aromatic Plants (MAPs) as one of the highly potential among 19 sectors for trade promotion. The MAPs industry represents an important export sector for Nepal in terms of revenue generation, employment, social impact and most importantly, poverty alleviation. More than 95% of commercially used herbs from the country are wild, organic and natural, though not certified. The utilization of MAPs has directly contributed to the livelihoods of the Nepalese people.

With due regards to such an array of medicinal plants available on vast landscape of Nepal, it is our pleasure to present the first edition of MAPs Stakeholder Directory published by Jadibuti Association of Nepal (JABAN). The book presents a compilation of MAPs Stakeholder's data from all over Nepal. It has comprehensive contact details of the value chain actors and also has information on various MAPs species of Nepal. This directory is mainly compiled to facilitate the market linkage, especially at the national level. The directory focuses to reduce the distance between the producers, manufacturers and traders by making the information on the MAPs actors transparent. The Nepali – German Trade Promotion Programme has been guiding and supporting the development of this directory. The Programme is implemented under the guidance of the Ministry of Commerce and Supplies with technical assistance by the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) GmbH, which acts on behalf of the German Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ). We wholeheartedly congratulate the JABAN family for producing a very useful publication and look forward for a stronger collaboration with for further development of the MAPs sector.

Important Laws for Trade of Maps

Information on Nepal MAPs Sector

Of the total number of species found globally, Nepal possesses 2.80 percent plants. Record from 2006 shows that Nepal has 6,391 flowering plant species, representing 1,590 genera and 231 families. Nepal's share of flowering plant species is 2.76 percent of the global total compared to earlier records of 2.36 percent. Nepal's share of pteridophytes is 5.15 percent compared to earlier records of 4.45 percent.

There are 2,532 species of vascular plants represented by 1,034 genera and 199 families in the protected sites. Some 130 endemic species are found in the protected sites.

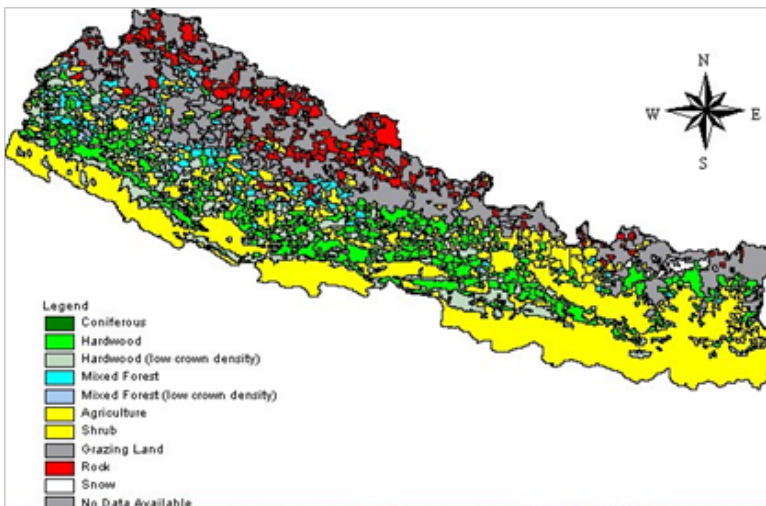

For ecology and vegetation purpose Nepal could be divided into four floristic regions i.e.

- (a) western
- (b) north-western
- (c) central, and
- (d) eastern, and bio-climatically these are broken down into twenty regions from humid tropical climate to the arid, alpine regions.

There are 399 endemic flowering plants in Nepal of which about 63 percent are from the high mountains, 38 percent from the mid hills, and only 5 percent from the Terai and Shivaliks. Similarly, the central region contains 66 percent of the total endemic species followed Medicinal Plants: The Himalayas are famous for medicinal plants and have even been mentioned in the Ayurveda. Many of the herbs and plants found in the Himalayas are used in traditional healing systems like Ayurvedic, Homoeopathic, Amchi etc. Some of these plants are even used for allopathic medicine. Medicinal plants are abundantly found in: the Terai region of Nawalparasi, Chitwan, Bardia, Dhanusha, mid hill region of Makhwanpur, Syangja, Kaski, Lamjung, Dolakha, Parvat, Ilam, Ramechhap, Nuwakot, and the Himalayan region of Dolpa, Mugu, Humla, Jumla, Manang, Mustang and Solukhumbu.

Orchids: In ancient Rome, Theophrastus, a student of Plato, was intrigued by the sight of a plant with a pair of roots. Orchis was the name he gave them, the Greek word for testicles. Worldwide, there are some 500 to 600 genera and some 20,000 to 35,000 names, the largest of all plant families, and out of this, Nepal has 57 genera (27 Terrestrials and 30 Epiphytic) with a few Lithophytes. Nepal is endowed with an incredible variety of orchids scattered across the country. Dedrobium is the largest species, followed by Habenaria and Bulbo- phyllum. Anthogonium, Hemipilia and Lusia are some of the other varieties amongst the nearly two dozen single species families.

International processes: Nepal has been working closely with the international community since the 1950s. It is a member of numerous international initiatives and a signatory to various conventions (Table 1). The focal points for these conventions/charters are scattered among many government organizations. The affiliation with international initiatives has affected national policies. In forestry, the most important impact on policy is seen in biodiversity conservation. The government has prepared a biodiversity action plan and protected areas now cover 18 percent of the total land area. The government has categorized 26 mammals, three reptiles and nine birds as endangered species (NPWCA 1973). This is in line with the CITES categorization for these species. The Department of National Parks and Wildlife Conservation (DNPWC) is responsible for the management of faunal species and Tribhuvan University and the Natural History Museum are the associated technical authorities. The DoF is the management authority and the Department of Plant Resources (DPR) is the technical authority for plants. The Forest Act of 1993 was amended in 1999, and new regulations are being enforced related to the export of certain products, particularly NWFPs. Some floral species are banned from harvesting or transport in accordance with the CITES rules.

Guidelines for promotion and development of NTFP-based enterprises, 2062 (2005): Effective NTFP enterprise development must draw upon many interconnected and intricate fields of knowledge and practices. Thus it attempt to familiarize enterprise and sustainable forest management (SFM) in the program area. There are limited efforts made at the national and local levels towards implementing the effective NTFP enterprise development programs. However, there are various tools available at local level for both government and private sector users to develop NTFP based enterprises in a sustainable manner. Also, there are existence of several policy constraints which is affecting NTFP enterprise in the Terai and Siwaliks. The promotion of NTFP-based enterprises in the districts should consider various schemes which are appropriate to the forest/land management systems in the area (including tenure arrangement), the socio-economic conditions of the farmers, and technically viable plantation/cropping systems. For planning purposes, there is a need of prioritization of NTFPs for its development in district in order to focus the interventions on NTFP enterprises with high economic potential.

Nepal Biodiversity Strategy Implementation Plan (2006): NBSIP (2006) focused on close linkage of biological resources, livelihoods and economic development, and mainstreamed the implementation plans to achieve the goals of Nepal Biodiversity Strategy (NBS) 2002. Conserve the biodiversity within and outside protected areas at landscape level and document and register biological resources and associated traditional knowledge, etc were major implementation plans of the NBSIP. An account of conservation of endangered (threatened) species was stated but it noted only on higher mammals. Even the account did not state on revision of conservation status of species which was most crucial for conservation assessment at regular time interval.

Procedures on MAPs collection and trade:

Forest Act-1993 and Forest Regulation-1995 regulates the MAPs harvesting, processing and its commercial trade. Wild herbs are generally harvested from National forest and Community forest. District Forest Office (DFO) issues collection permit for the collection of MAPs from government forest or in pasture land and Community Forest User Groups (CFUGs) issue the permit for their collection from Community forest. For this, applicant has to submit an application containing details on the types of herbs, origin, collection quantity and purpose of the collection (domestic use or export). After getting permission from DFO, collectors and/or traders can collect and store the same MAPs and quantity mentioned in the permission letter.

Collectors and/ or traders have to pay royalty of the collected quantity of MAPs to the DFO for release permit. This release permit is a proof of royalty payment by the traders for the domestic transportation. DFO only gives permit to those MAPs which are not prohibited for export/local commercial trade in raw or unprocessed form. If the MAPs are intended to export then exporter has to apply for the recommendation from the DFO to the concerned customs office at Nepal-India boarder.

For the export of processed MAPs (essential oils, extracts or it's by products), exporters need to obtain certification from Department of Plant Resources (DPR). Based on laboratory analysis of the samples and applicants information, the containers are sealed and if the result is equivalent and satisfactory then DPR issues certification letter to concerned custom office to allow export of consignment.

Similarly, for the CITES (Convention on International Trade of Endangered Species of Fauna and Flora) listed species (or processed products), Department of Forest (DoF) issues CITES permit for the export.

As per the Plant Protection Act-1972 and Plant Protection Rules-1975, Phytosanitary certificate (PC) is mandatory for the export of MAPs from Nepal. Plant Quarantine Office issues Phytosanitary certificate before exporting MAPs. To obtain Phytosanitary certificate exporter has to submit an application to Plant Quarantine Office along with supporting documents like enterprise registration certificate, a release letter of DFO etc. Plant Quarantine Office makes arrangements to send its staff to the ware house for necessary sanitary examination of MAPs.

Phytosanitary certificate can be obtained from different Plant Quarantine Offices located at the Customs posts of Kakarvita, Biratnagar, Birgunj, Tatopani, Bhairahwa, Nepalgunj, Kanchanpur and Kathmandu (Tribhuvan International Airport).

Transportation of MAPs: Transportation inside the country from the collection centre to Road head or Terai trade centers have to pass through several check posts. These check posts examine the collected/harvested MAPs and the respective documents (DFO permit, release letter/CFUG's letter). If the transporter has necessary documents which match with transported MAPs only then MAPs are allowed to move further. If not both the transporter and goods are detained for further investigations. Multiple check points have been established just to verify the transporting of MAPs. Transit/ Export permits of unprocessed MAPs has to be obtained from DFO.

Trading channels of MAPs: In general, trade channel of MAPs begins from the harvesters/collectors (CFUGs, herders, farmers), who function as the primary suppliers of the herbs. Herbs from the collectors then decentralize to the different tiers of stakeholders. Collectors have good knowledge on the available local resource, whose assistance in the marketing chain improves the economics of collection and increases the volume of the trade. After harvesting, MAPs are then transported to collection points (on man's back or by horse or mule) up to the road and air accessible areas located nearby the forest or sometimes 4-5 days walking distance from collection sites.

In remote north-western mountainous parts of Nepal MAPs from difficult steep dry slopes are transported to the collection point, the domestic airstrips which fly to south plain of the country. The major airstrips of MAPs are Gamgadi, Simikot, Jumla-Khalanga, Jufal and Jomsom in western Nepal. Except some exceptions from Jomsom almost all MAPs from these regions are transported to Nepalgunj and Surkhet airport. Whereas, the collected MAPs from north-eastern parts are transported to Kakarvitta and Biratnagar via the trade points Ilam, Basantapur and Lahan.

From east to west Nepal, MAPs wholesalers are based in Kathmandu and the Terai plain cities at the Nepal-India boarder where road and air transportation facility is common. From Nepalgunj MAPs are transported to central wholesalers based in cities in Nepal Terai and some mid hills cities including Kathmandu.

Supply chain of MAPs between Nepal and China also takes place via the transit boarder of Taplejung, Sankhuwasabha, Dolakha, Sindhupalchok, Rasuwa, Gorkha, Mustang, Dolpa, Mugu, Humla and Darchula districts.

Taken from different intermediaries, Kathmandu based traders also supply many species of MAPs in national and international markets in various forms.

Between the source and the International markets, MAPs and herbs based products are handled by intermediaries at four levels. Village traders, road-head traders and Terai traders all three located in Nepal while fourth intermediaries are in India or overseas.

Value chain of MAPs: Major functions involved in the value chain of MAPs are input supply, production and local processing at farmers level (for cultivated items); collection, domestic trading and exporting at traders level (for wild harvest); and processing and manufacturing for value addition at processors/manufacturers' level. The function of final processing and manufacturing is in limited form within Nepal. Some manufacturing companies involved in Ayurvedic productions, herbs based personal care producers, health care herbal products producers, etc. have been using MAPs and processed products as an ingredient in their various products.

In a value chain, the actors include the value chain operators and the operational service providers together. Those functionaries who are directly involved in transaction or directly support the actors who involved in transaction are the value chain actors.

- Input suppliers: Input suppliers are those who provide inputs for the production of MAPs. Seed/seedlings, farm yard manure and labour are the major inputs for MAPs farming and are usually managed by farmers themselves. Chemical fertilizers (if used) are provided by fertilizer dealers existing in nearby market centres of farmers. Government agencies and non-governmental agencies provide technical knowhow and inputs in some extent to the farmers; however, the flow of information and inputs is not satisfactory.
- Farmers: Farmer is the person or his/her family members who are engaged in growing, collecting and selling MAPs. Small commercial farmers are involved in small production volume but still targeting the market and large-scale farmers produce commercial production. The produce from small farmers generally does not enter the market directly. Small and large-scale commercial farmers sell most of their produce to various market intermediaries. Farmers are also engaged in local processing of the MAPs such as essential oils.

- Collectors: Collectors are the village farmers and/or members of community forest user groups who harvest MAPs from community or government forests. Collectors do the cleaning, drying and preliminary grading of MAPs they harvested
- Local processors: Some farmers distil essential oils from cultivated aromatic herbs and also from few wild crafted herbs in distillation units and sell to the road-head traders or national traders.
- Road-head traders: Road-head traders are those who are located at road-head and collect the MAPs from farmers and collectors. Road-head traders are usually from the local community and conducts trading activity of various goods including retailing of grains and foodstuffs. Most of the MAPs from road-head traders go to exporters who supply to India and some quantity goes to national traders.
- National traders: National traders are those who have been active in trade of MAPs and products in national/domestic market. They get goods both from cooperative and road-head traders. Besides supplying goods to national markets, they also supply to exporters and national processors/manufacturers. Sometimes national traders directly provide goods to Indian commission agents.
- National processors / manufacturers: National processors/ manufacturers are the firms which are engaged in producing herbs based products such as Ayurvedic products, herbs based personal care products, health care products and other products using MAPs as one of the ingredients. The products using MAPs as an ingredient like Ayurvedic medicine and health care products are sold locally to wholesalers or to wholesalers in India. Dabur Nepal, Gorkha Ayurved Company, Singh Durbar Vaidyakhana, Himalayan Bio Trade Pvt. Ltd etc. are some of the examples of the processors and manufactures.

- Exporters: Exporters are those firms who have been doing export business of MAPs and its products. Major volume of MAPs and its products are exported to India and China, while few quantities are exported to overseas.
- Commission agents: Most of the MAPs exported to India initially go to Indian commission agents who are based in major market hubs of India and border cities of Nepal. These commission agents usually take 5-6% as commission on the total sales amount. Depending upon the relationship with the exporters, payment of 50% is made by the commission agent during delivery of goods. Rest of the payment is paid once the goods are sold completely by deducting the commission.
- Wholesalers: Wholesalers are those who sell MAPs to retailers, products manufacturers, industries, and institutional users. MAPs wholesaler in Kathmandu is based in Kilagal.
- Retailers: They are the traders who purchase MAPs from wholesalers and sell to end consumer. In Kathmandu most of the retailers of MAPs are based in Kilagal and Boudha areas and Krishna mandir area in Patan.

Procedures for the export of MAPs

a. Export via land/sea

MAPs exporting to India is not much complex. Clearance at the customs offices and checking posts at the boarder are sufficient.

- For third countries export via India, requires further clearance procedures at Nepal/India boarder, Kolkata port and Bangladesh port.
- From Nepal/India boarder export of the materials to the destination normally undertaken by authorized agents.

- Exports are permitted only against Advance Payment or Letter of Credit (L/C) to ensure that the payment for the MAPs and its product is received in Nepal. L/C copy or Advance Payment Certificate (APC) should be authenticated by the concerned Nepalese commercial bank.
- Nepal customs release export shipments only after verifying the bank Certificate of Advance Payment or L/C copy certified by a commercial bank.
- On all exports, Certificate of Origin (CO) should be submitted to Nepal customs at boarder. CO is issued by Nepal Chamber of Commerce (NCC), Federation of Nepalese Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FNCCI) or Confederation of Nepalese Industries (CNI).

b. Documents for the Nepal boarder customs

Exporter has to submit following documents for the Nepal boarder customs:

- Custom Transit Declaration (CTD) in quadruplicate duly endorsed by Nepal customs office (yellow copy)
- Nepal Customs Export Declaration
- Commercial Invoice
- Packing List
- L/C or Certificate of Advance Payment
- Certificate of Origin
- Generalized System of Preference (GSP) or Form A
- Certification from Department of Plant Resources (for processed products and by-products)

- Enterprise Registration Certificate
- Income Tax Registration Certificate/Permanent Account Number (PAN)
- Phytosanitary Certificate (PC)
- Authorization letter in the name of forwarding agent.

After checking all the necessary documents with the consignment, the Nepal customs office endorses the CTD. Exporter has to pay the custom charges to get clearance. Only then cargo moves to Indian boarder customs office.

c. Documentation for Indian custom office

Exporter or clearing agent has to submit following documents in the Indian custom office at the Indian boarder:

- The declaration included in CTD duly endorsed by the Nepal Customs
- Original Invoice
- Packing List
- Authority letter of clearing agent in the name of forwarding agency
- Certified copy of L/C or Certificate of Advance Payment

The One-Time-Lock (OTL) of containerized cargo towards third country is checked and if found intact is allowed further transportation.

- As to the non-containerized goods, such goods is verified and examined on the basis of CTD. If found correct the consignment is cleared for further transportation.
- All the four copies of CTD are endorsed by the Indian boarder customs. Out of the four, two copies (second and third) are sent to the Kolkata customs. The first copy is returned to the exporter/clearing agent and the fourth copy is retained with the customs office for the record.

- After full examination container moves to Kolkata port, the main exit for overseas.
- At Kolkata all the related files endorsed by Nepal-India boarder custom office are filed and compared to the original CTD with the duplicate and triplicate copies received in a sealed envelope taken by clearing agent.
- After documents are cleared by the Kolkata Customs, Custom Point Transit (CPT) approval is obtained for taking the cargo inside the port.
- The cargo is then taken inside the port where the customs checks seals and locks on the wagons or containers and packages, and compares with the declaration made on CTD.
- Then the cargo is handed over to the ship's agent inside the port. After necessary endorsements, customs gives back the original, duplicate and triplicate copies of CTD to clearing agent who takes them again to the Kolkata customs.
- After Kolkata customs makes necessary entries on all copies, the original is handed back to clearing agent for submission to the border customs, the triplicate copy is sent to the border customs and the duplicate copy retained for records.

d. Export via air

Tribhuvan International Airport (TIA), Kathmandu, is the only international gateway for exporting goods by air in Nepal.

Following documents has to be submitted by exporter or clearing agent for customs examinations at TIA:

- Nepal Customs Export Declaration
- Original Invoice
- Packing List
- Certified copy of L/C or Certificate of Advance Payment
- Certificate of Origin
- Generalized System of Preference (GSP) or Form A
- Enterprise Registration Certificate
- Certification from Department of Plant Resources (for processed products and by-products)
- Income Tax Registration Certificate/Permanent Account Number (PAN)
- Phytosanitary Certificate (PC)

Based on the examination of necessary documents provided by exporter or clearing agent, the cargo is sealed and cleared for storage by customs. For loading of the cargo into a container, exporter has to reserve space with the concerned airlines. Only after that loading of the cargo into a container truck is allowed. After checking and sealing of the container truck by the customs, the cargo is transported to the apron area and unloaded there.

Legislation and policies related to MAPs in Nepal: Acts and policies related to collection, processing, trade and export of MAPs in Nepal are as:

- Convention on International Trade of Endangered Species of Flora and Fauna (CITES), 1975

Research, development and promotional institutions and associations

There are several government, non-governmental, academic institutions, associations and private organizations involved in research, development and promotional activities of the MAPs in Nepal. The following are some of the major organizations:

- Academic institutions: In the academic sector, four universities in one way or the other are in the MAPs teaching and research. Tribhuvan University established in 1959 is the oldest and the largest university of Nepal. The major departments that are engaged in the MAPs teaching and research in Tribhuvan University are Central Department of Botany, Central Department of Chemistry, Central Department of Microbiology, Central Department of Environmental Science and Research Center for Applied Science and Technology (RECAST). Kathmandu University is a private university established in 1990 and its Pharmacy Department runs programs in natural products teaching and research. Similarly, newly established universities such as Purbanchal University and Pokhara University have programs related to the medicinal plants studies and research. Nepal Sanskrit University has been cultivating medicinal plants since long time.
- Nepal Academy of Science and Technology (NAST): Nepal Academy of Science and Technology (NAST) is an autonomous apex body for the development and promotion of science and technology in Nepal. Its MAPs related activities include bioprospecting of the Himalayan medicinal plants and in situ conservation of germplasm of medicinal and aromatic plants, development of cultivation techniques and transfer of appropriate technology to the local communities.
- Department of Plant Resources (DPR): Department of Plant Resources (DPR) previously known as Department of Medicinal Plants was established in 1960. This institute is the leading Government body for providing services in research and development of the plant resources in the country.

The major responsibilities of Department of Plant Resources include surveying and collecting of plant resources and preserving the specimens in the National Herbarium, maintaining botanical gardens, carrying out chemical and biological researches with an aim to optimum utilization of MAPs and other plant resources, conducting biotechnology research to improve the plants of economic value and developing agro technology on plants and providing services to the farmers on techniques of commercial cultivation of important MAPs.

- International Center for Integrated Mountain Development (ICIMOD): Established to work towards economically and environmentally sound mountain development as well as to improve living standards of mountain communities, ICIMOD has taken over Medicinal and Aromatic Plants Program in Asia (MAPPA). MAPPA's activities are geared towards creating a system of long-term sustainable and equitable uses of the MAPs resources in Hindu Kush Himalayan regions.
- Asia Network for Sustainable Agriculture and Bioresources (ANSAB): The Asia Network for Sustainable Agriculture and Bioresources (ANSAB) is an independent, not for profit, international organization based in Kathmandu, Nepal established in 1992. Focusing on natural resource management and economic development, ANSAB is working towards sustainable use and management of non-timber forest products (NTFPs) supporting the development of viable community based forest enterprises.
- Ethnobotanical Society of Nepal (ESON): With the aim of enhancing the study and promoting the proper utilization of plant resources in Nepal, a group of Nepali ethnobotanists established Ethnobotanical Society of Nepal (ESON) in 1997. ESON is working to promote plant based research activities through information exchange among plant scientists and institutions at national and international levels; increase public awareness on different issues related to indigenous knowledge and ensure intellectual property rights; strengthen community's capacity through training programs for both skill and leadership development and cultivate MAPs of economic importance.
- The World Conservation Union, IUCN, Nepal: IUCN, Nepal is in the conservation arena in Nepal since late 1960s, working with the objectives to promote biodiversity conservation, environmental justice and sustainable livelihood. IUCN, Nepal has published National Register of Medicinal Plants in 2000.
- Jadi Buti Association of Nepal (JABAN): Jadi Buti Association of Nepal (JABAN) is an umbrella organization of herbs and herbs based products traders, established in Nepalgunj (western Nepal) in 1995. Nepalgunj is major trade center of herbs in western Nepal. JABAN strives for the conservation of the natural resources and provides support to the rural communities for the MAPs cultivation. It works for the production of quality materials as well as prompt and efficient services and supply for the buyers. JABAN has more than 300 members.
- Nepal Herbs and Herbal Products Association (NEHHPA): Nepal Herbs and Herbal Products Association (NEHHPA) is an umbrella organization of herbal entrepreneurs, established in 2002. Advocating the advantages associated with herb and herbal business, NEHHPA intends to participate in the economic development of the nation through the medium of sustainable business of herbs and medicinal plants. It organizes herb related seminars and workshops, publishes a magazine Prakrit and lobby on herb related policy issues with the Government agencies. About 40 members are affiliated to NEHHPA.

- Nepal Traditional Ayurvedic Medicinal Practitioners Association: The association aims to work towards passing valuable traditional practices to the new generations through well managed Ayurvedic institutions, campaign to generate awareness and knowledge about the efficacies of the herbs, reduce adulteration in the herb and herbal products and assist the Government for preparing and implementing the policies that address the conservation of traditional practices and the potential herbs. This association has membership of 55 traditional Ayurvedic practitioners and manufacturers from all over Nepal.
- Himalayan Amchi Association: Himalayan Amchi Association was established in 1998 with the aim of preserving and consolidating the knowledge and skills represented by traditional Himalayan healers and Tibetan medicine in order to provide local communities with an effective health care system. Its major activities are to campaign for the recognition and support of the Tibetan medicine, provide trainings and other forms of medical education, put effort to provide efficient health care delivery to the communities, work towards conservation, cultivation and sustainable utilization of medicinal plants, undertake activities on documentation and research of the medical practices and associated knowledge and to work towards protection of intellectual property.
- Trade and Export Promotion Centre (TEPC): Trade and Export Promotion Centre (TEPC) is established under Ministry of Commerce and Supplies with the objective of promoting foreign trade in general and export trade in particular of the country.
- Agro Enterprise Centre/Federation of Nepalese Chambers of Commerce and Industry (AEC/FNCCI): FNCCI has created AEC as an autonomous unit in 1991. It has its own optimal guidelines, policies and program approval is given by a separate board comprising of FNCCI executive members, representative from District Chambers of Commerce & Industry, commodity associations, permanent invitees from various related government agencies and donors. The mission of AEC is to expand and strengthen market oriented private sector driven agro enterprises in order to increase the value and volume of high-value products marketed domestically and internationally.
- Micro-Enterprise Development Programme (MEDEP): Micro-Enterprise Development Programme (MEDEP) is a multi-donor funded poverty reduction initiative implemented by the Government of Nepal with the technical and financial support of United Nations Development Program (UNDP), started in 1998. The programme helps to improve the livelihood of the poor and excluded communities by creating various income generating opportunities through skill development trainings and support to establish small business enterprises. Government Regulations in NTFPs Trade

NTFP is an important category of forest products that provide cash income to the poor village, particularly in the high mountains where other alternative income generating opportunities are very limited.

Apart from collector's millions rupees income from collection and sale, it contributes more than 30 million rupees to the government as the revenue from collection permit of Medicinal and Aromatic Plants (MAPs) every year. It is estimated that MAPs worth USD 18 millions are traded from Nepal mainly to India.

Because of its multi-millions trade transaction and income generating potentiality, this sub-sector has attracted many stakeholders of commercialization and conservation interest.

The government has formulated some policies and regulation to promote conservation and utilization of NTFPs. However, the smooth implementation of rules and regulations are often in question.

The Forest Act, 1993 and Forest Regulation 1995 provide regulatory framework for NTFP trade in Nepal. Almost all products categorized under the NTFP are found in the national forest and are in control of government jurisdiction in one way or the other. The government has put a ban on the collection of Yarsagumba and Panchaule as well as a ban on the export in crude form Jatamansi, Sugandhawal, Sarpagandha, Sugandh Kokila, Jhyau, Lauth, Shilajit, and Talis Patra. Under community forestry laws, a forest user group can manage and utilize forest products including NTFPs in accordance with an operational plan. The FUG can issue a collection permit for the products that are prescribed for harvesting.

The general procedures/steps of NTFP trade are as follows:

Certificate of Income Tax Registration: Traders of NTFP have to register their business with the Office of Income Tax and obtain the certificate of tax clearance.

Collection Permit: A Collection Permit either from the DFO (in government-managed forests) or from a FUG (in the case of Community Forests) is required for harvesting NTFPs. An application should state the type of NTFPs, the area, the quantity, and the purpose of collection.

Royalty Payment: According to the Article 8 (3) of Forest Regulation 1995, royalty should be paid before getting the Collection Permit. But Article 11 (3) of the Regulation mentions that the authorized officer shall collect the fee or royalty while issuing the Release Order. If the NTFPs are collected from a FUG, the fee or the royalty should be paid to the FUG that provides the Collection Permit.

Checking and Weighing: After harvesting the products, the respective forest office (DFO/Range Post) or FUG shall check and weigh to tally the amount of NTFPs collected against the licensed amount.

Release Order or Transit Permit: For the sale, transport, and distribution of herbs collected in the district, a Release Order must be obtained from the DFO. The Release Order is valid for fifteen days but can be extended for seven more days at a time.

Local Taxes: With the provision of the new Local Governance Act that came into effect in May 1999, the local development bodies have a right to impose tax on any product including processed and unprocessed NTFPs at any level of transaction and trade. Many District Development Committees and Municipalities have started taxation on trade of NTFP from the districts.

Checking and Endorsement: The traders are required to show both Collection Permits and Release Order at Forest Check-post/Beat located en route and they shall transport only after having been endorsed by the Check-post/Beat.

Export Recommendation: DFO recommends the concern Customs Office for the granting permission to export the products.

Product Certification and Export Permission for Some NTFPs: Department of Plant Resources (DPR) provides product test and certification services for processed as well as unprocessed NTFPs. To export the processed NTFPs that are prohibited to export in crude, a Product Certification and Export Permission must be obtained from the DPR. The Department tests the products, seals the containers and grants the export permission.

Export Recommendation for processed NTFPs to India: Only the processing and manufacturing industries can export processed NTFPs to India. For this, the company should apply with Federation of Nepalese Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FNCCI) for an export recommendation letter. The FNCCI forwards the letter to the Department of Industry. The technical committee of Department of Industry makes necessary inquiries and provides an Export Recommendation to the processing company for the products processed by the company in Nepal.

Certificate of Origin: Certificate of Origin must be obtained from the branches of FNCCI or from the Nepal Chamber of Commerce (NCC) to export NTFPs. To export processed NTFPs to India, the Certificate of Origin is provided to the processing companies that have the export recommendation letter for the products from FNCCI.

Certificate of General System of Preference: If exporters want to have the privilege of exemption of import duties aboard, they must obtain a Certificate of General System of Preference from Trade Promotion Center (TPC) and Customs Office of Nepal.

Export Permission and Duty: Export Permission is granted by Customs Office en route after taking the Export Duties equivalent to 0.5 percent of the free on Board (FOB) value of processed and unprocessed NTFP.

Import Permission and Duty: The Customs Office of importing country grants Import Permission. Import Duty on Cost, Insurance, and Freight (CIF) value must be (http://www.ansab.org/News_Fol/government_regulation.htm) can be exempted from Indian Customs Office if the Certificate of Origin is shown. And for the developed country, Certificate of Origin and Certificate of General System of Preference should be shown to exempt the import duties if the country has given such privilege to Nepalese products. When importing the forest products from foreign country, the importers have to submit an application along with the customs declaration form and the authentic evidence from the concerned country.

Government policies in some cases are supportive for the trade of some NTFPs. Almost all NTFP based manufacturing enterprises can entertain income tax holiday for an initial five-year period, which can be extended up to 10 years. To assist the trade and processing of NTFPs, the export companies are given the tax exemption facility for the export value of the products.

However, to boost the NTFP trade, the ban and taxation provisions and trade and export procedures of NTFP have to be reconsidered. Market support systems and a mechanism for the fair distribution of profits among the NTFP stakeholders have to be promoted.
